

May 25, 2009 – Qsonix and Wadia Digital Join Forces!

Dear Wadia Partners,

Wadia Digital is pleased to formally announce our new strategic partnership with Qsonix. This relationship will combine the strengths of both companies' digital audio technology, products and distribution channels.

Effective June 1st, Wadia will begin distribution channel management, including day-to-day sales management, order logistics and support for Qsonix's soon to be released next generation products and software platform.

Qsonix will be working closely with Wadia to implement new sales, marketing and training programs, while manufacturing, shipping and technical support will continue to be provided from Qsonix's Newbury Park, CA offices.

The Qsonix and Wadia teams look forward to introducing new products, software enhancements as well as more support tools that leverage combined resources and passion of both companies.

Please feel free to contact any of us directly if you have questions or comments.

We sincerely thank you for your support,

Wadia Digital
